Central track team is beaten for the rst time in thirteen years. This is the headline of the local newspapers back in the spring of 1912, when the athletes from Western High School romped away with the interscholastic meet held on Satleca' Field.

It was a memorable occasion-first, be-cause of the fact that Coach Bill Foley's crack Central High School team, theretofore undefested in a track meet, was beaten, and, second, because the brilliant Western High School relay team ran first in the relay race, in which "Nubby" Jones, at that time captain of the Red and White four, and at present a star with the Georgetown track team, was given credit for breaking the tape in his part of the four forty which made up the mile in the relay, in fifty seconds

Bearing his part of the burden while wearing the red jersey of the Western High School team was a diminutive athete, one Brooke Brewer, on this relay our which trimmed the Central crowd. While still in his freshman year at the school across the creek this small but fleet-footed athlete jumped into prominence by being picked to run in third position on this victorious quartet.

He had previous to this distinguished landing the honers in two other short hikes. On this memorable occasion in the
